We need to engage in whatever actions appeal to us.
There is no act too small, no act too bold. The history of social change is the history of millions of actions, small and large, coming together at certain points in history and creating a power which governments cannot suppress.

Statement of Purpose and Course Description

In both Summer Session A and Summer Session B, this class can actually be taken for 1-4 units, all P/NP.<sup>1</sup> It is a regular group studies designed to focus our sociological imaginations on creating the kind of society that might weather the climate storm that is coming and actually come out on the other side (or more realistically in the midst of it even as it deepens) with societies far more suited to human well-being and thriving than the ones we presently have all around the world, now so evidently under stress and with our institutions so revealed in all their inadequacy by the virus.

Therefore, now in the Summer of 2020, our work is about how Eco Vista will be made relevant, useful, and life-affirming in the uncertainty of the coronavirus.

We will ground our own work together by participation in the exciting new multigenerational student-community project we call Eco Vista – www.ecovistacommunity.com – the transition of Isla Vista into a model eco-village through our efforts in tandem with other community organizations over the next five years.

The heart of the class will be individual or group projects with relevant community partners in Isla Vista, either initiated by one or more members of the class or by joining an ongoing project or Eco Vista working group in the community.

We will also discuss various readings that provide a historical context for our work, situate Eco Vista in the literature on eco-villages, and explore a variety of cutting edge theoretical and real-world systemic alternatives that will encourage creative thinking about the problems – and opportunities – posed by the climate crisis.

Finally, we will continue to invite guest speakers, based on our interests and their availability!

This course is about gaining useful knowledge and the skills to enable positive action to secure a better future.

***

This course is for you, about you, and ultimately by you. It is rooted in our love for ourselves, for each other, for the community, and for the planet.

And dedicated to the inspiration and beautiful presence of Michael Bean.

OUR MISSION

Our long-term goal is to establish an ongoing, multigenerational, student-led community development project for an equitable and just transition in Isla Vista.

We aim to encourage and inspire the foundation of an eco-village in Isla Vista through renewable energy, a flourishing and regenerative agro-ecology of public urban gardens, cooperative, affordable eco-housing, a circular eco-economy based on solidarity and meeting the real needs of the inhabitants, a vibrant web of visionary cultural creativity, radical self-governance, and community priorities determined by all who reside here.

We hope that Eco Vista can become a model for other sustainable communities!

Eco Vista is ... a promise, a pledge, a dream, a future.

The promise of Eco Vista is that together we might create a place that is life-affirming for all its inhabitants and that might inspire others elsewhere – particularly young people in their own communities – to use their imaginations to create the innovative future communities we all want to live in, right now!

Our pledge to you is to co-create, imagine, dream, and transform our community into a place that matches the name of Eco Vista. We want to dream and make manifest this vision together with you!

The Eco Vista dream is a communal, shared, joyful adventure – may it transport us to a place worthy of the love we feel for it.

The future of Eco Vista is ... well, that's what we hope and aim to find out!

*****

Community values and principles

We are inclusive.
We are democratic.
We are non-violent.

We work collectively whenever possible, and all are free to organize their own activities and projects.

We are open to all points of view that are aligned with these values and supportive of the Eco Vista Mission.

We act and live out of love for the dignity of all living beings, and base this love on social and climate justice, and on radical hope.

Course Requirements<sup>2</sup> and Assignments<sup>3</sup>

OK, here's the creative part of the class process. Everyone will come up with ideas for their own or for group projects and submit a written proposal before the second class meeting of each summer session. This could be you working with another class member or members, UCSB students not enrolled in the class,

<sup>2</sup> Note: you are required to attend all three class meetings and the meeting of the Eco Vista General Assembly during the quarter.

<sup>3</sup> Please note: Please format all papers in this course with 1" margins all around, 12-point size, and double spacing (not 1.5 lines), uploading them as Word documents onto our class GauchoSpace.

residents of Isla Vista, or community organizations and any others interested in a practical project that stems out of the Eco Vista process.

Project Proposal

Written project proposals will be due by noon on Friday June 19 for discussion in class that day.

Reflections on Eco Vista General Assembly meetings. 30 percent of your grade

During the Summer Session you are in, you must attend the three Friday General Assemblies of Eco Vista Summer, from noon to 2 p.m., and post your observations on them by the following Friday at noon. Feel free to write informally. However, please spellcheck your work and make sure it makes sense. In our writing, we want to be respectful of other peoples' views and keep our minds open. We will discuss the form and content of this assignment in our first class meeting.

Finally, everyone is invited to volunteer to either take notes of facilitate one of the General Assembly meetings during the quarter!

Project Presentations. 20 percent of your grade

Ten- to fifteen-minute class presentations will be scheduled for Friday, July 17, and will count for 20 percent of your grade.

Final Report. 50 percent of your grade

You will be asked to write a 1,000-3,000-word analytic essay on your project work this quarter.<sup>4</sup> This will be the place where you get to reflect deeply on what you have learned this quarter.

Course Meetings, Topics, Readings

I would like us to co-construct the quarter's work as we go. Below you will
